

A vibrant, multi-armed statue of Lord Krishna in the center, surrounded by other deities and figures, likely part of a religious festival or display. The central figure is Lord Krishna, depicted with multiple arms holding various weapons and symbols. He is surrounded by other deities and figures, including a woman in a green and yellow sari and a man in a blue and orange dhoti. The background is a large, colorful mural with a green and yellow pattern. The entire scene is set within a wooden frame, possibly a shrine or a display case.
